PRICE-LIST of DAHLIAS
 (small-flowering types)
 growing at

The GARDEN WORKSHOP
 of FRED P. WEBBER

You are cordially invited to visit my garden, two miles out of Newport toward Fall River on Route 138, where over 200 varieties of small-flowered dahlias, mostly recent importations from over-seas - "voluntary refugees" are growing. No cover charge, and no "sales pressure" except such as is exerted by the flowers themselves. But it's not a bad idea to select your next year's dahlias as you see them at the show, or better still, in my garden, and order them now for delivery next April.

Prices are for healthy roots with at least one good eye, postage prepaid.

I expect to harvest more seed than I shall have room to plant so that I can spare a few packages from rare varieties that should give interesting results. Write for particulars.
